Stabbed to Death.

Henry Williams, colored, while attending to his duties as marshal at the Paris Colored Fair, Friday night, was stabbed to death by Bud Warren, colored. It is said that Warren, on entering the Fair Grounds, found his wife riding on the merry-go-round with another man, that he pulled her off and was beating her, near the entrance to the grounds, when Williams interfered and endeavored to stop him and told him he must desist or get off the grounds. Warren resented Williams' interference and drawing a long dirk knife plunged it into the officer's heart.

Warren made his escape from the infuriated colored people who were present and who no doubt would have done him bodily harm had he been caught by them. He left the grounds and went in the direction of Lexington, but left the pike and made back tracks through the darkness to the home of Dan Love, a negro on Cypress street, and telephoned to police headquarters for an officer to come and get him. Officers Elgin and Burke at once responded and escorted the frightened negro to jail. Warren claims that Williams was vigorously using his club on him when he pulled his knife in self-defense.

DEATHS.

—Mr. Chas. Sauer, Sr., died at his home on Second street, Saturday, at 10:30 a. m. of a complication of diseases. Mr. Sauer was aged 75 years, was a quiet unassuming man and highly respected by all who knew him. He was a native of Baden, Germany. At the age of 17 years he emigrated to America, locating at Ripley, O., where he married Miss Eva Schatzmann, who survives him with their nine children, Fred Sauer and Mrs. W. P. Mayfield, of Lexington; John Sauer, of St. Louis; Mrs. Lizzie Ashbrook Elgin, of Illinois; Mrs. Emma Orr, of Mayville, and William and Charles Sauer, Jr., and Mrs. Jamse Batterton and Mrs. James Doty, of Paris.

The funeral services were held at the grave in the Prais cemetery Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Chandler, of the Methodist church.

—Mr. Alfred G. Wornall, one of our oldest and most highly respected citizens, died Saturday night at the Cynthiana hospital, from a second attack of paralysis. Mr. Wornall had been an invalid for over a year, having previously suffered from this dreaded disease.

He was 71 years of age and was a son of Alfred and Lucinda Hedges Wornall.

His grandfather, Thomas Wornall, was a native of Virginia, moving to Clark county in 1801, where he bought a large farm. He served as sheriff of Clark county and represented his county in the State Legislature in 1809-10. In the war of 1812 he commanded a company of cavalry and upon his return home was made a Colonel in the Kentucky militia. He married Sallie Ryan, the daughter of John B. and Susan Ryan, and to them were born ten children. Mr. Wornall died in 1838, after a distinguished career as soldier and citizen. Mrs. Wornall passing away in 1854 at the home of Frank P. Clay.

Mr. Alfred Wornall was a Confederate soldier, belonging to Company D, Eighth Kentucky Cavalry, commanded by the late Col. Leroy Cluke. He married Miss Maggie Hamilton, who survives him and resides with her nephew, Judge E. T. Hinton.

Mr. Wornall for many years was a prominent farmer of the county and widely known as a judge of fine cattle and horses. He was kind and generous and enjoyed the esteem of a large circle of friends.

The body was brought to Paris on the 11 o'clock a. m. Louisville & Nashville train Sunday and taken to the home of Judge E. T. Hinton on Pleasant street. The funeral services were held at the grave in Paris cemetery yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Elder Carey E. Morgan officiating.

The active pall-bearers were E. B. January, W. C. Stipp, George W. Morrow, Gano Hildreth, L. J. Fretwell and J. T. Quisenberry. Honorary, James E. Clay, Thos. Henry Clay, R. B. Hutchcraft, John T. Hedges, H. C. Hutchcraft and O. P. Clay.

Will Raise Tobacco in Texas.

C. K. Oldham, of Lexington, returned Saturday night from Orange county, Texas, where on behalf of a syndicate of Lexington capitalists, he secured option on several thousand acres of land which it has been found will produce the highest grade of shaded Cuban tobacco worth $3.50 a pound. L. H. Sheller, a Government expert has demonstrated by actual production that this tobacco will grow in the climate and on the lands in that section, and the syndicate expects to form a company to raise this tobacco on a large scale.

A Joyful Reunion.

There was a joyful reunion at Lexington Saturday afternoon when John Boggs, of Lexington, a former Confederate soldier, who served in Morgan's command, met his only child, John Boggs, of St. Louis, whom he had not seen for thirty-three years and believed to be dead. In 1875 Mr. Boggs' wife died, and he took his son, only three years old, to St. Louis and left him with his wife's mother in that city. Soon after he heard that the child had died, and as he heard nothing from its grandmother, he accepted the story as a fact. The report of the boy's death was, however, untrue. The lad grew up, and engaging in business in St. Louis, became a prosperous merchant. He knew little of his father except his name and that he entered Morgan's command from Lexington, Ky. He determined, however, to try to find him, and arriving in Lexington Saturday on that quest. Mr. Boggs was well known, and the son, learning that his father was engaged as a clerk at Weil's slaughter-house, found the old man and told him who he was. The father at first refused to believe the young man was the son he had long believed dead, but proof was quickly forthcoming and father and son were soon clasped in each other's arms.

The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Swearingen, who recently moved from this city to Chicago to reside. He is popular and his many friends congratulate him on winning the charming young lady for his life partner.

May their future lives be filled with happiness and sunshine is the wish of the News.

—Mr. John William Clough, of Cynthiana, and Miss Druse Hudnall, of Shakspere, were united in marriage at the bride's home on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. Geo. W. Clarke officiating. The attendants were Mr. Jas. Vach, of North Middletown, and Miss Cuna Hudnall, sister of the bride, Mr. Chas. Cassidy, of Paris, and Miss Myrtle Wells, of Lexington.

There is the Record.

Referring to the Democratic campaign text book for 1908 the New York World says:

"The Democrats have stout rods in pickle for the Republicans this year, as is proved by their campaign book of three hundred pages, but they apply none of them to the Republican President. They are opposed to jingoism, militarism and imperialism, and yet the most warlike of presidents escapes criticism. They denounce extravagance and waste at Washington and yet the man who is largely responsible for this reckless expenditure finds no accuser. They make war upon the privileged plutocrats of the tariff, the combines and the trusts, and yet the only president who ever sent for a Harriman and arranged for the collection of a campaign corruption fund is nowhere condemned. They demand publicity in campaign expenditures, and yet a President who neglected at a critical time to insist upon that policy is held blameless. They reproach the Republican party for its failure to enforce the laws against the pirates of interstate commerce, and yet the President, who holds that the laws are too drastic and that they must be modified, goes free of censure."

Harsh words are not necessary. The Democratic text book shows up the Republican record, and nothing could be gained by bitter denunciation. The facts as to jingoism, militarism, imperialism, extravagance and waste at Washington, tariff privileges enjoyed by combines and trusts, Harriman's contribution to the Republican campaign fund, the Republican party's failure to enforce the law, and the Republican record generally—these things are all presented in compact form.

There is the record. The people may apply it—we believe they will apply it, so as to defeat the political party that is responsible for that record.

The People See It.

Hon. William J. Bryan, in a brief paragraph, Thursday, exposed the whole effort put forth by William R. Hurst in this campaign. Asked by the reporters if he had anything to say about the Hearst speech of Labor Day in which the Democratic candidate was bitterly assailed, Mr. Bryan said:

"I am fighting Mr. Taft. Mr. Taft or I will be elected. If Mr. Hurst will declare he is endeavoring to help elect Mr. Taft and Mr. Taft will endorse Mr. Hearst as a representative of Republican ideas and Mr. Hearst's method of campaigning I will answer Mr. Hearst."

Mr. Hearst is endeavoring to elect Mr. Taft. That is his purpose in putting a ticket in the field. Neither Mr. Hearst nor Mr. Taft will acknowledge so disgraceful a bargain, but the people recognize it and Mr. Hearst will realize that fact fully on election day.

Maybe You Overlooked These Facts.

Senator Fulton went to Oregon, and asked for re-election, and the people said:

"We want a change!"

Senator Hansbrought went to North Dakota for re election, and the people said:

"We want a change!"

Senator Kittredge heard it in South Dakota, from the people:

"We want a change!"

Senator Long asked the people of Kansas for re-election, and the people shouted:

"We want a change!"

Senator Hopkins went to Illinois and asked for re-election, and two-thirds of the Republicans of Illinois announced:

"We want a change!"

Almost one-half of the Republicans of Iowa, even when asked by their distinguished Senator Allison, replied:

"We want a change!"

The voice of the people is unmistakable. Wherever they have had a chance to speak, they have earnestly lifted their voices, saying:

"We want a change!"

That sentiment is sweeping the whole country:

"We want a change!"

The Labor Vote for Bryan.

That the vote of organized labor will be cast practically as a unit this year for Bryan and Kern, because of the satisfactory labor planks in the Democratic national platform, is the opinion of Frank B. Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, emphatically expressed. Mr. Morrison is the one man specially qualified to estimate the effect of the appeal to all labor organizations, issued in behalf of the Democratic national ticket by President Samuel Gompers, and all the members of the executive council of the federation. As secretary he handles the correspondence in reply to the appeal. "There are about six hundred central labor organizations representing the affiliated unions in various cities and sections of the country," said Mr. Morrison. "In the majority of cases these central bodies have endorsed the political stand taken by the executive council. In no instance has the appeal of the executive council been repudiated. The effect is an endorsement of the position of the executive council by every central body in the country. I do not mean to say that several small unions have not protested against our course. But their number does not exceed six or seven, and in each instance the union is one dominated by the socialist. Therefore, I believe that the great bulk of the labor vote will endorse the Democratic national platform, which met the demands of labor and will punish the party that agreed to a platform ignoring labor."

Bad Times Here and Abroad.

Owing to the moving of the crops over 30,000 freight cars have returned to work in the United States and Canada during the last three weeks. There was still a surplus of 222,632 idle cars on Sept. 10, according to the report of the American Railway Association, but on April 29, when railroad traffic was at its lowest ebb since the panic, there were 413,605 idle cars. Since then the total decrease has been 49 per cent., and as the crop movement gains volume a further reduction may be expected.

But in other directions improvement is still painfully slow. In the manufacturing centres, aside from the laborers who have moved away in search of jobs or emigrated, there are hundreds of thousands who are unemployed or working on reduced time. As wage-earners are the most numerous and reliable class of consumers, business everywhere languishes in proportion as their purchasing capacity dwindles.

In the same way good or bad times in Europe react upon this country. Just as the severe industrial depression in the United States has produced disastrous consequences abroad. The fact that thousands of artisans in London are reported to be out of work, and that Glasgow is filled with unemployed demanding public support, augurs no good for the producers of this country. Great Britain will be less able to buy what we have to sell. As our best customer her prosperity is of immediate importance to us.

The notion that one country must thrive on the adversity of another is the greatest of absurdities. It is like saying that the merchant is benefited by the poverty of the people upon whom he depends for his sales.

The Best Machine.

The idea that peace could be the normal relation of the nations never entered Napoleon's head or the head of any man about him, declares A. L. Kielland in "Napoleon's Men and Methods." In his mind peace could only mean a pause between two wars. He had no idea to give to the world. His thoughts did not go beyond his own life. He shrinks at once in comparison with a man of science, who expends his life to create a thought that will nourish and elevate posterity.

If Napoleon reached the highest summit of a prince and a commander, he was also the last who succeeded in gathering about his person all the glamour that had been wont to accompany and adorn the bloody business of war. There was no more of it after his fall. War became afterward an academic study. Military affairs came to resemble industrial interests, in which it is the best machines that gain the victory.

We now strip our armies of their gold cords and waving plumes. The admiral, who used to stand on the bridge in his gala uniform, with his decorations and sash, now sits in a steel box and presses buttons like a telephone girl. When the glamour goes from a thing it is near its end.

The Greatest General.

All things duly considered, the greatest general of whom we have any knowledge was in all probability the Carthaginian, Hannibal. All the information we have of Hannibal comes from his enemies, and yet what achievements they were forced to credit him with! The second Punic war—the most brilliant in history—was practically one man against a whole nation, and that the strongest then known. With the army that he had molded out of raw and barbarous levies Hannibal had to fight a nation of the stoutest and best trained warriors of ancient times, and he had to do this without any assistance from home. It has been well said that there is nowhere else an example of what a single man of genius may achieve against the most tremendous odds.—New York American.

The Color of Jade.

The idea of jade possessing the virtue of bringing the wearer food fortune arose in China, where the stone is so valued that the finding of a particularly fine piece causes the state to take possession of the land where it was found. The best specimens represent all the hues and effects of sea foam, but these are eagerly snapped up by collectors and seldom come into the public market. There is another cause for the popularity of jade. Its peculiar green tinge has the effect of making the human skin look very white. In this connection the quality of the stone is of no account so long as the color is there. Indeed, many of the less expensive jade ornaments are made from chips of the stone which contain noticeable flaws.—Pearson's.

The Mightiness of Truth.

"Truth is mighty," said the moralizer.
"Yes," rejoined the demoralizer, "it is mighty scarce."—Detroit Tribune.

Sense of Honor.

The Statesman—Sorry, but I can't afford it.—New York Life.

The Daring Pike.

The boldness of a pike is very extraordinary. I have seen one follow a bait within a foot of the spot where I have been standing, and the head keeper of Richmond park assured me that he was once washing his hand at the side of a boat in the great pond in that park when a pike made a dart at it and he had but just time to withdraw it.

A gentleman now residing in Weybridge, in Surrey, informed me that, walking one day by the side of the river Wey near that town, he saw a large pike in a shallow creek. He immediately pulled off his coat, tucked up his shirt sleeves and went into the water to intercept the return of the fish to the river and to endeavor to throw it upon the bank by getting his hands under it.

During this attempt the pike, finding he could not make his escape, seized one of the arms of the gentleman and lacerated it so much that the wound took a month to heal.—London Fishing Gazette.

He Caught O'Connell.

Daniel O'Connell, the famous orator, when taking a ride in the neighborhood of his house had occasion to ask an urchin to open a gate for him. The little fellow complied with much alacrity and looked up with such an honest pleasure at rendering the slight service that O'Connell said:
"When I see you again I'll give you sixpence."

Riding briskly on, he soon forgot the incident and fell to thinking of graver matters, when, after traveling some miles, he found his path obstructed by some fallen timber, which a boy was stoutly endeavoring to remove. On looking more closely he discovered it to be the same boy he had met in the morning.

"What!" cried he. "How do you come to be here now?"
"You said, sir, the next time you seen me you'd give me sixpence," said the little fellow, wiping the perspiration from his brow.

The Very Thing.

The old gentleman poked his nose in and out of the mysterious corners of the furniture shop.

"By the way," he said suddenly, "my daughter has just started to—er—have a young man come calling, and I suppose I really ought to get a pretty sofa for them to make love on."

"Most certainly, sir!" responded the suave shopman. "And here, I think, I have the very thing you need. It is called 'Cupid's Retreat' and is especially suited for courting couples."

"Specially suited?" repeated the old gentleman. "Well, what is its particular good point?"

"Why, sir, the particular good point is this—the pretty covering you see before you is guaranteed to wear off in just one year."

"And what on earth's the use of that?" asked the old gent.

"Why, sir, because it leaves displayed a card upon which are written the words, 'Time to get married!' Neat, isn't it?"—London Answers.

Queer Virginia Oysters.

But, sure enough, did you know there were some oysters, and Virginia oysters at that, which cannot live always under sheets of water? The seaside oyster does not grow in deep water, say over ten feet, and the most and best of them grow in water so shoal that it is dry ebb half the time. These latter are the most prolific seed bearers we have, but they will die if planted in deep water or in the Chesapeake bay. The inside or bay oyster should never ebb bare to thrive best. Singular, isn't it, that the Virginia oysters, one and the same bivalves, can lead a double life, but only one phase of it at a time! The seaside fellow must be out of water a good portion of his time to thrive, while the bay and river fellow will die in summer and freeze in winter if exposed to the air.—Virginia Citizen.

The Roast.

"To judge woman by her looks is to court error," said a well known woman. "I know a man who while carving at a dinner wished to say something that would please the pale, deep eyed, spirituelle girl at his side.
"How do you like Maeterlinck?" he at last inquired.
"Well done," she answered, not once lifting her eyes from the great roast he was working on."—Washington Post.

A Difficult Case.

A physician received late one evening a note from three of his fellow practitioners:

"Please step over to the club and join us at a rubber of whist."
"Emilie, dear," he said to his wife, "here I am called away again. It appears to be a difficult case—there are three other doctors on the spot already."

New.

"I want you," said the stage manager, "to play the part of a banker, and I want you to try to play it with a touch of originality."
"All right," responded Yorick Hamm, "I'll leave off the mutton chop whiskers."—Kansas City Journal.

The Difficulty.

"Could you bring yourself to live in a flat on 14 a week?"
"I could, Harold," answered the pampered yet unspoiled darling. "But I do not know just how it would suit my French maid."—London Tatler.

The Real Question.

"Where does he get his money?"
"I don't know where he gets his, and I don't care. What I am interested in is knowing just how he gets mine."—Nashville American.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

No, Sir! You cannot palm off any substitute on me. I've been using August Flower since I was a boy, and I'll have no other."

Forty million bottles of August Flower sold in the United States alone since its introduction! And the demand for it is still growing. Isn't that a fine showing of success? Don't it prove that August Flower has had unflinching success in the cure of indigestion and dyspepsia—the worst enemies of health and happiness? Does it not afford the best evidence that August Flower is a sure specific for all stomach and intestinal disorders?—that it is the best of all liver regulators? August Flower has a matchless record of over 25 years in curing the ailing millions of these distressing complaints. Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

WHEN THE OTHER MAN IS HIT.

Misfortunes of Others Frequently Cause of Self-Congratulation.

"I wonder why it is," said the melancholy man, "that, when we hear of misfortunes that don't come very close to us, there is usually a feeling—well, I won't call it one of superiority of fate, but certainly one of recognition of the fitness of things by which we are not picked out for such evil case. And we are careful to give ourselves all possible credit for exemption. Jones, you hear, has failed. Poor Jones. You know him, and you know that if you had been in his place you would have seen the signs of disaster and taken warning. Brown's son has made a runaway match. Well, well! That is tough on the Browns, but it is clear that they didn't understand bringing up a boy. And so it goes. There's a preening of the feathers, an assumption of an air of conscious rectitude. Does it come from innate selfishness? Or is it because there has been no personal experience of sorrow along the lines indicated?"

Sword Owner's Wonderful Adventures.

A sword is in the possession of a man that was ploughed up in the Farm Island vicinity, supposed to have been lost by a British sailor.—New Haven Leader.

Looks Like Burnt Wood.

Place cards may be made to have the burnt wood effect, if one cares for it, by using iodine and a very fine pen. Be careful not to cross over the wet lines, and for the heavier lines a stub pen may be used.

Serious Drouth Throughout State

Reports from counties all over Kentucky show that the State is badly in need of rain. The drouth is general. The late corn crop has been cut about half in two and other crops have suffered in proportion. Drinking water is scarce in some localities and the dust is almost unbearable. Sparks from locomotives are destroying property adjacent to railroads. The ponds, wells and small streams have dried up and farmers are disposing of their stock at a sacrifice.

Millinery Opening.

October 1st and 2nd are the dates of Mrs. Corne Watson Baird's millinery opening. 18 5t

Good Roads Association.

The Kentucky Good Roads Association was perfected at the State Fair Thursday with the election of James Bosworth, of Bell county, as president. The convention was attended by 1,000 delegates from the counties, cities and towns of Kentucky and from the commercial organizations of Louisville and other cities and towns and the automobile clubs of the State. The convention was addressed by Gov. Augustus E. Wilson and others interested in the good roads movement and resolutions were adopted during a vote on the constitutional amendment to provide funds for the betterment of the roads in every county in Kentucky.

Sale of Desirable Lots.

The most inviting and desirable residential section in Paris for colored people will be offered to the colored people at public sale on Thursday, Sept. 24, 1908, on easy payment plan by Wakefield, Moore & Wakefield. Read their big adv. in this issue.

A Blow to Taft Boodlers.

Senator J. B. Foraker Saturday wrote a letter to Judge Taft, announcing that he would not attend the Republican rally in Cincinnati Tuesday, where he had been scheduled to deliver an address, introducing the Presidential nominee. It is now practically certain that Foraker will be eliminated from both the State and the National Republican campaign. Senator Foraker issued another statement Saturday in reply to the charges made by W. R. Hearst in his St. Louis speech. He says the draft for $50,000 was sent as a loan in a contemplated newspaper deal by friends of Foraker. The deal afterwards fell through, he says, and the draft was returned. The Hearst charges were again the uppermost topic in political circles in Ohio and many conferences were held by Republican leaders. Judge Taft, however, declined to make any statement for publication.

LIVE STOCK AND CROP NOTES

The drouth in Bourbon remains unbroken and is proving disastrous to the farmers.

Jas. H. Thompson delivered a few days ago 111 head of fat cattle to Joe Frakes, for the S. & S. Co. They weighed 1,420 pounds and brought 6 cents.

The hemp crop is rapidly curing and is being stacked throughout the county. The crop is short compared to the yield of a year ago, though the acreage is much larger.

Corn cutting is in full blast and fully sixty per cent. of the crop will bear only fair yield. Notwithstanding the high price of old corn, which is selling in the local market at from $4.25 to $4.50 per barrel, and that farmers a year ago paid 12 1/2 to 15 cents per shock for cutting corn, the price this year ranges from 8 1/2 to 10 cents per shock.

The State Fair closed at Louisville Saturday with W. G. Shropshire, of Paris, winning the premium on Red McDonald as the champion gaited saddle horse of Kentucky. In speaking of this ring the Courier-Journal says:

"John T. Hughes' handsome gaited stallion defeated a good field earlier in the week and won championship honors yesterday afternoon. Mr. Shropshire, who rides him, has no superior in the saddle, and gets all out of his mount that there is in him."

The remarkable little five-gaited pony, Cock Robin, the property of little Ed. K. Thomas, son of Hon. C. M. Thomas, also won honors for his owner at Louisville.

Accident to Wright's Aeroplane.

Orville Wright was seriously injured and Lieut. Selfridge, of the Signal Corps, was killed during a flight of Mr. Wright's aeroplane at Fort Myer late Thursday afternoon. The blade on one of the propellers broke on the fourth trip around the field and the machine overturned seventy-five feet in the air, landing on both men. Mr. Wright's hip and several ribs are broken, but it is expected that he will recover.

K. of P. Dedication.

The Widows' and Orphan's Home in Fayette county, on the Harrodsburg road, was formally dedicated by the Knights of Pythias of Kentucky Sunday afternoon with appropriate ceremonies before nearly ten thousand Pythians and friends of the lodge from almost every part of the State.

The exercises at the Home appropriately celebrated the establishment of the third home in the State where the widows and orphans of the members of the lodge are cared for when the father has been taken away.

The Masons have provided a home for their widows and orphans at Louisville, the Odd Fellows and the Knights of Pythias have established homes in Lexington.

Rathbone Lodge, of this city, was in attendance in full force. Capt. F. M. Faries with his company made a fine appearance in the parade.

J. T. HINTON.

A True Statement.

"While Kentucky schools are not what they should be and are behind those of many of her sister States, the State itself is doing all that could be expected or should be asked. There is not another state east of the Mississippi River that pays from the State treasury as much as $3.60 per capita, and many of them do not pay half that much. In these States education is a local affair, and each locality pays most of its school expenses. In most Kentucky districts it is hard work to raise enough money from local sources to buy fuel, and because the schools cost nothing locally is the reason they are so little valued."

The above from a contemporary is full of truth, but it is to be seen whether or not the new law which is now being tried will remedy this state of affairs.

Tall Stock of Corn.

Dudley Rose, who lives on the C. M.
Clay farm, near Paris, brought to this city a gigantic green corn stalk measuring fourteen feet, six inches in height, from the roots to the tips. The stalk was not fully developed, not having tasselled out, and had no ears of corn on it. Mr. Rose says the rest of the field is of an average height, and that will grow ains this particular stalk would have no doubt rivaled the famous twenty-four foot Kansas cor stalk.

New Presbyterian Preacher.

The Rev. Dr. B. M. Shive, the new pastor at the Second Presbyterian church began his charge Sunday by preaching two excellent sermons. The large congregation at both services that heard him were much pleased.
Dr. Shive is a gentleman of pleasing address, forceful, fluent and eloquent speaker. He impresses one with being in earnest in his work, and his coming among us we feel sure will re-

own congregation but to the commu-

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an East bound O. R. & N. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grande, Ore.," writes Sam A. Garber, a well-known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said
'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out found her very ill with cramp colic her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them
and with a death like look on her face.
Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." For sale

MODERN DEMAND FOR SILENCE.

German Newspapers Protest It Is Being Carried to Extremes."How the times change!" says a writer in the Frankfurter Zeitung. "In the days of our fathers no description of a homelike, cosy room was complete without a reference to the ticking clock. It was this gentle sound which emphasized the quiet of the place. People had no nerves in those days. To-day the thought of a machine ticking off the seconds and striking the hours is a source of worry and distress. Time is going, but they do not wish to be reminded of it continually; no clock is better than the ticking machine. And now to meet the requirements of the nervous people, a factory at Schramburg is making a noiseless clock." In an article on the same subject another paper says:
"The anti-noise craze has made disagreeable and unendurable some of the noises which once were music to us,
and soon we will find a way to silence
the birds and to muffle the sound of the rustling leaves."

SHERMAN H. STIVERS, CLERK.

Won Her a Diadem.

How did the French come into Sicily? A woman did it. At a festive entertainment held at a French court, Beatrice, countess of Savoy and wife of Charles of Anjou, the brother of Louis IX. of France, was removed from the superior range of seats occupied by her two younger sisters, the queen of France and the queen of England. Mortified by the humiliation, she returned to her apartments and burst into tears. Upon learning the cause of her chagrin and her saying that she would be able to give up her life to confine her tresses for one hour beneath a diadem Charles embraced her affectionately and said, "Set your heart at rest, countess, for before long I will make you a greater queen than either of your sisters." So he promised her. He defeated Manfred, the last of the Norman kings, and caused Conradino, the great-grandson of the Emperor Frederick, to be mercilessly slain, he himself and Beatrice witnessing the scene. Upon the death of his brother Charles became king of Naples, thus fulfilling the cherished desire of his wife for a diadem.

The Wrist and the Arm.

The real wrist, as one might say, is the elbow joint. It is all hand, practically speaking, from that point to the tips of the fingers. When you turn your wrist it is the whole forearm that makes the twist, and every movement of the fingers is controlled by the muscles of the forearm. The power to turn the wrist to and fro at the elbow joint is possessed only by human beings and monkeys, and even the higher apes are not able to do the trick nearly as well as we can. In this movement the great biceps muscle in the upper arm is importantly concerned, its powerful action in turning the forearm outward being accountable for the fact that we are able to put so much more strength into a twist in that direction than the opposite way. Many of our most familiar tools, indeed, such as the screwdriver, are made with reference to the anatomical peculiarity in question. It is for this reason and no other that all screws turn to the right.

Reed and Strout.

Thomas B. Reed served in the navy during the civil war, and in 1865 he returned to Portland to practice law. One of the strongest men at the Portland bar at the time was A. A. Strout. Before beginning the trial of a suit it was Strout's habit to inquire of every juror as to the state of his health and impress each with the idea that the lawyer was solicitous of that juror's personal welfare. Reed and Strout were constantly antagonizing each other, though they were very good friends. In nearly every case of importance Strout and Reed were on opposite sides. It was annoying indeed for the suave Strout to hear Reed draw out before the opening of a case:

"Well, your honor, Brother Strout having finished his morning task of shaking hands with the jury, we may now, I hope, proceed with the business of the court."

Beating Women.

"If it is true that national adages give an insight into the ideas of a people," says the Berlin Radical, "women must occupy a strange position in Russia. One of these old saws runs, 'Love your wife as much as your mule,' and another tells the good man, 'Shake your wife as you would a fruit tree.' That woman is not considered frail is shown by the adage, 'You may safely beat your wife with a broom handle, for she is not made of porcelain.' Beating must be considered a wholesome pastime, to judge from the saying, 'If your wife deserves a beating in the morning, remind her of her faults by giving her another at noon.' In justification of this kind of attention the Russian says, 'The more a man beats his wife the better his meals will be.'"

The Sea Serpent Myth.

It is possible, even probable, that the sea serpent myth started in all good faith. In the southern seas grow the gigantic algae, the largest of which measure from 400 to 600 feet in length. These when rolled on the beach form enormous cables several hundred feet long and as thick as a good sized tree trunk. Such cables washed out to sea by storms may very easily have given rise to the farfamed but yet undiscovered sea serpent.—New York American.

Nice, Easy Job.

The following advertisement recently appeared in an English newspaper: "Man required for demonstration purpose an old English rack (star chamber pattern); would have to be slightly stretched to show how rack worked; man should be short to start with."

Quite Fortunate.

New Girl (timidly)—I s'pose you are a fine cook, mum? Young Mistress—Bless me, no! I don't know anything about it. New Girl (relieved)—Then we'll get along famously, mum. I don't either.—New York Journal.

The Pearl of Great Price.

"Put disposition above beauty," is the advice of a modern sage to the young man who thinks of taking to himself a wife. But it requires such a long time to discover disposition.—Providence Journal.

Conflicting.

"There is safety in numbers," quoted the wise guy. "And yet we are told that too many cooks spoil the broth," added the simple mug.—Philadelphia Record.

The brave man may fall, but he cannot yield.—Irish Proverb.

Going the Limit.

"Some people," said Uncle Eben, "is so crazy 'bout money dat they takes mo' pride in false teeth an' a wooden leg dan dey does in what dey was born wif free of charge."—Washington Star.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nerve. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife, would, it is believed, seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended. A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

An Exceptional Woman.

Magistrate—You say your wife threw a teacup and struck you on the head?

Plaintiff—Yes, your honor.

Magistrate—How far was she away from you at the time?

Plaintiff—About ten feet.

Magistrate—What did she aim at?

Plaintiff—At me.

Magistrate—Well, all I've got to say is that you ought to be proud of a wife like that.—Chicago News.

Very Desirable.

On red-hot summer days
What comfort it would be
To have at hand always
An educated tree
To follow us around the town, no matter
Where we strayed.
And furnish us with shade
And, if it were a lemon tree, with lemonade!

—Harper's Weekly.

Excusable Exaggeration.

"How did Jones, who is generally such a truthful man, come to assert that yesterday the thermometer in his room recorded 150 degrees in the shade?"

"I suppose he just said it in the heat of the moment."—Detroit Free Press.

Mary's Cart.

Mary had a horseless cart—
Run by gasoline, you know—
And everywhere that Mary went
The smell was sure to go.

She headed it for school one day;
Her mother said she must.
But why was Mayme an hour late?
Alas, a tire bust!

—Detroit Tribune.

A Desirable Quality.

A barrister observed to a learned brother in court that he thought his whiskers very unprofessional. "You are right," replied his friend. "A lawyer cannot be too barefaced."—Tit-Bits.

Time and Money.

The flowers bloom;
The flowers die.
Vacation days
Go swiftly by.
They heard him murmur,
With a sigh:
"The days are shorter.
"So am I."
—Washington Star.

The Other Way.

He (cautiously)—We had a corking good time last night.

She (coldly)—From the condition in which you came home I should say the time was more on the uncorking order.

Of Revenge.

Revenge is a kind of wild justice; which the more man's nature runs to, the more ought law to weed it out.

The Remedy That Does.

"Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the healing, others promises but fail to perform," says Mrs. E. R. Pierson, of Auburn Centre, Pa. "It is curing me of throat and lung trouble of long standing, that other treatments relieve only temporarily. New Discovery is doing me so much good that I feel confident its continued use for a reasonable length of time will restore me to perfect health." This renowned cough and cold remedy and throat and lung healer is sold at Oberdorfer's drug store, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. sept

—One of the best local talent entertainments given in a long time was the concert put on at the opera house Saturday evening under the management of Mrs. Hancock, of Dallas, Texas, assisted by local talent and Miss Nannie Barbee, of Danville, and Mrs. Fannie Sutherland, of Paris. The drills and pantomimes were good and far above the average. All enjoyed the work of Misses Cray, Booth and Butler, who give promise of a bright musical future, which should not be neglected. The vocal solos of Mrs. Sutherland and the dialect reading of Miss Barbee were worth the price of admission. The audience went home thirsty for more of their work and we hope to hear them again in the near future. The sweet little solos of Mrs. Hancock will always be pleasantly remembered. We are much indebted to her and her sister, Miss M. B. Clark for this entertainment which pleased all who heard it.

Your Responsibility.

No life is just the same after you have once touched it. Will you leave a ray of hope or one of despair, a flash of light or a somber cloud across some dark life each day? Will you by thoughtless cruelty deepen the shadow which hangs over the life, or will you by kindness dispel it altogether? No matter how you feel or what is disturbing your peace of mind never allow yourself to send out a discouraging, a cruel or an unkind word or thought.—Success Magazine.

Odd Wedding Gift.

One of the newest things in the way of a wedding present is a set of push buttons for every room in the house. They were of beaten gold and jade, pale ones for the light decorated rooms and dark ones for the heavier decorations. This is a new idea, but some one has suggested gold keys as even newer.

Grand Opening.

We announce our grand fall opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 1 and 2.

THEATRICAL.

AT THE GRAND.

A bill that speaks for itself as being one of the highest class was presented to the patrons of the Grand last night, to continue until Thursday night, to a very appreciative audience. Miss Lizzie B. Raymond, a prominent figure on the program is one of America's representative character singers. She is a favorite among the vaudeville theatre-goers in some of the largest cities and her engagement in Paris received a warm welcome on the initial performance. Applegate and Whiteside is another feature of the bill and in their clever singing and dancing spelt "A Trip in an Automobile, in which they feature Will Rossiter's latest success, "Wish Me Good Luck on My Journey," they place themselves in the class of the best ever seen here. Their sketch forms a pleasing contrast to those already seen in this city in that it is "something different," their jokes being new and their singing and dancing way above the average vaudeville artist.

Sunday Killings.

A dozen or more people were shot during a general fight which occurred during a tent revival meeting at Moreland, six miles from Danville. The trouble was started by two drunken rowdies, Steven Benedict and Samuel Rockwell.

A dispute which arose over a nickel during the progress of a dice game near Maysville Sunday culminated in the shooting and instant killing of Claude Payne by Brack Johnson. The latter escaped.

Sherman Cope, of Breathitt county, was shot in the back with a shotgun by a negro Sunday night about 10 o'clock. Cope was on his way home and was fired on from behind. It is not believed that he will recover.

Best Town in Kentucky.

The present drouth in Central Kentucky demonstrates that Paris is the best manufacturing city in Central Kentucky. The ice plant at Georgetown and at number of other cities have been compelled to shut down on account of no water, while Paris has plenty of water and our manufactories never have to close down on account of lack of water. We will never take it back, Paris is undoubtedly 'the best town in Central Kentucky for manufactories to locate in.

Neurasthenia Among Teachers.

The board of retirement of the New York board of education says that the most common disease among the teachers of that city is neurasthenia, or nervous breakdown. In most of the 345 cases that have come before the board in the three years of its existence most of them have been from this cause. Under the new order of things 310 women and 24 men have been retired.

Uncle Eben on Wisdom.

"Wisdom," said Uncle Eben, "is mighty desirable, but too many of us has de idea dat it consists in a large collection of facts dat nobody ain' interested in."

Indestructible.

Force can never destroy right.—Latin Proverb.

Slander.

Slander is a restless evil which disturbs society, spreads dissension through cities and countries, disunites the strictest friendships; is the source of hatred and revenge, fills, wherever it enters, with disturbances and confusion, and everywhere is an enemy of peace, comfort and Christian good-breeding.—Massillon.

Tennessee's Stingiest Man.

Gallatin claims to have the stingiest man in Tennessee, if not in the world, and a premium is offered for his superior in closelinedness. He got married to a home girl to save expenses. They walked around the square for a bridal tour. He bought her a nickel's worth of stick candy for a wedding present and then suggested that they save the candy for the children.—Danville Advocate.

Strange Custom of the Harem.

Every woman in the harem has her face decorated in the most curious manner. The practice is to elongate the eyebrows to the ears and to embellish the chin with little points of black paint. In contrast with the men, their complexions are very fair, as they are shut within walls and are never exposed to the sun.

Women as Friends.

Women would not be liked, or admired, or loved, or considered in the smallest degree by any sane man if they were in the least like what the comic papers or the smart novelists say they are. If we had been we should have been relegated ages ago, and very rightly, too, to sanatoria and homes, where a kindly captivity would have been our lot. No women are better than they are said to be; not last as friends.—Reader.

Clever New York Advertiser.

There is a shopkeeper in New York who is a firm believer in the saying "Sweet Are the Uses of Adversity," as well as in the proverb of it in which the last word is changed to "advertisement." A glass show case outside the store was broken into and despoiled the other day and now it has a sign on it which reads: "All men want our goods; when they haven't the price, they steal them."

Found A Pot of Money.

Charles H. Wells, who found a pot full of gold and silver coins while digging the foundation for a sawmill in Ballard county, has sold it for $9,300 to C. F. Clarke & Co., of Cincinnati. In the pot were 115 $20 gold pieces, 200 $10 gold pieces, 120 $5 gold pieces, eight $50 gold pieces; 210 silver dollars and 180 silver halfdollars. It is believed the money was buried during the war by a man named Keitam, who lived on the farm where the money was found. Wells made no secret of his find, and although some effort has been made by others to set up claims to the money none has been successful. Wells, who was a sawmill hand, says he will engage in the real estate business at Mayfield, Ky.
